ASX CONTINUES BOARD RENEWAL, ANNOUNCES CHANGES TO DIRECTORS

ASX Limited (ASX) Chairman Damian Roche welcomes two new non-executive directors, continuing the Board's commitment to refresh talent, skills and experience of its directors. Vicki Carter and Luke Randell will join as non-executive directors with Ms Carter's appointment effective from 2 February 2023 and Mr Randell's from 3 April 2023. Ms Carter and Mr Randell will stand for election at ASX's Annual General Meeting on 19 October 2023.

Mr Roche said: "One of my priorities in pursuing a program of Board renewal has been to strengthen the Board's technology and cyber capabilities, and experience in managing the complex needs of large scale transformation programs. These skills are critical to understanding how these transformations will complement the technology changes at ASX and impacts our customers and their business needs.

"I am confident that Vicki and Luke have the relevant skills with transformation and can bring insights drawn from contemporary customer relationships to make valuable contributions to the Board."

These appointments follow those of non-executive directors Dave Curran and Heather Smith, both of whom were formally elected to the ASX Board at the Annual General Meeting last September.

With these changes, ASX confirms today that Heather Ridout AO will retire following the conclusion of the February Board meeting and Peter Marriott will retire at the conclusion of the meeting in April.

Ms Carter brings more than 35 years' experience as a senior executive and non-executive director from a career spanning banking, insurance, wealth management and telecommunications.

Ms Carter is an accomplished leader experienced in leveraging technology and achieving organisational transformation by improving customer outcomes, reducing costs and simplifying operations. She established Telstra's Transformation Delivery function and oversaw the successful delivery of T22, Telstra's multi-year transformation program, and her experience and insights will be a valuable addition to the Board's skill set.

Mr Randell brings a deep understanding and experience of securities markets gained during a distinguished career with global investment firm Citi. His experience spans more than three decades managing and growing equity and derivatives markets businesses across Australasia, Japan, UK, Europe and the Middle East. Having recently retired as Head of Markets Australia and New Zealand for Citi, Mr Randell will provide valuable insights to Board discussions by drawing upon contemporary stakeholder relationships.

"The appointment of Vicki and Luke continues the ASX Board renewal process that commenced with the appointments of Dave and Heather in March and June 2022 respectively," Mr Roche said.

"Together with the appointment of Helen Lofthouse as Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer in August 2022, I am confident the Board has the requisite mix of expertise, industry experience and diversity to ensure appropriate oversight and guidance as we continue to build a world-class exchange."

Mr Roche also recognised the deep contribution from Ms Ridout and Mr Marriott as they depart the ASX Board: “I want to thank them for their outstanding service and contributions to ASX over many years and I am grateful for their wise counsel.”

At the time of re-election in 2021 for Ms Ridout and Mr Marriott, both directors indicated they would not seek re-election following this current term. Ms Ridout served as a non-executive director since August 2012 and Mr Marriott since July 2009.
